EPISCOPAL CHURCHES CONSOLIDATE.

THE PARISHES OF ST. JOHN THE BAPTIST AND THE EPHRAIM ARE NOW ONE.

The Protestant Episcopal churches of the Epiphany and St. John the Baptist have been formally consolidated as the parish church of the Epiphany. The first service of the new church will take place to-day.

THE REV. DR. CORNELIUS ROOSEVELT DUFFIE, in the building of the old Church of the Epiphany, in East Forty-seventh-st. After today the services will be held in the building of the Church of St. John the Baptist, and the property in Forty-seventh-st. will be either abandoned or be used as a mission house.

THE CHURCH OF THE EPIPHANY was a free church, and in the Church of St. John the Baptist the sittings were rented. A consolidation of both plans will be used in the new organization. The Church of the Epiphany was one of the oldest in the diocese of New York. It was admitted to the diocesan convention in 1845. A number of years before that it had been organized as a mission church. It first occupied a building in Stanton-st., afterward removed to East Fifty-first-st., and in 1857 purchased the brick and stone church in East Forty-seventh-st., known as St. Alban's Church. The Church of St. John the Baptist was founded in 1848 by the Rev. Dr. Cornelius Roosevelt Duffie. The services were held for a few years in a little chapel in Thirty-fifth-st., and in 1856 the present building at Thirty-fifth-st. and Lexington-ave. was completed. The Rev. Dr. Cornelius Roosevelt Duffie is a son of the Rev. Dr. Cornelius Roosevelt Duffie, the founder of St. Thomas's Church. He was graduated from Columbia College in 1841, and from the General Theological Seminary in 1845. He founded the Church of St. John the Baptist in 1848, and was its rector up to the time of the consolidation.

THE HEIRS OF D. CROISE.

John S. Lamson, secretary of the New York Security and Trust Company, said yesterday that he had no knowledge of the movements of the heirs of Dr. Edgar Croise to have the trial of the claim of Dorothea Edgerton Croise, who is said to be his child, in Onondaga County. The company had just been appointed guardian of the child, but the pressing of her claim was in the hands of the attorneys. Whether or not objections to the settlement of the child's relationship in Syracuse would be made he did not know.

THE ENOPOLAR MESSENGER RATES.

G. V. R. Frost, the superintendent of the American District Telegraph Company, yesterday denied that bills had been received demanding rent for the use of roofs for stringing wires in retaliation for the increase in rates and the charge for the use of messenger cables. He said that the managers were on the side of the stockholders, and on the other by demands for better service from the public. They could not respond to both demands at the old rates. They had to spend over $25,000 to put the wires under ground and then pay $800 a mile rental for the cables. The Postal Telegraph Company has a messenger service which will probably become popular, as it has not raised the rates. It will enlarge its messenger service, which is now incidental to its other business. If it can do so without raising the underground rates, the officers say that if they have to use them the expense of extension would be too great to allow it at the present rates of service.

WORK OF THE WOMEN'S PRISON ASSOCIATION.

The forty-eighth annual report of the Women's Prison Association and the Jeanne T. Hopper Home not only presents interesting information concerning the work of this worthy society, but it has an interesting interest and value in the fact that it was the last work done by the late Mrs. Abby Hopper Gibbons. This estimable woman and indefatigable worker in everything tending to elevate and improve the condition of humanity, was over ninety-one years old when she wrote her part of the report and arranged the other material for the printer. The treasurer's report shows receipts for the year ending September 30, 1892, of $13,144 68, and a balance in the treasury at that date of $754 49. The number of beneficiaries admitted during the year was 188, of which, with twenty-six under charge on October 1, 1892, made a total of 214. Of these 118 were sent to service. Three to the hospital, one to another institution, sixteen to friends and eleven were discharged.

An important incident of the year was the passage of the bill by the Legislature appropriating $100,000 for a "Reformatory for Women," the plan for which originated with the Women's Prison Association. It provides for the appointment by the Governor of five (two to be women) residents of the State as members of a board of management. The following were appointed: John Berry, David N. Carvillio, Samuel W. Johnson, Alice Sanford and Arno Huntington. The site for the reformatory has been secured at Bedford Station, on the Harlem Railroad.

MANY LARGE REAL ESTATE SALES.

THE GENERAL MARKET CONSIDERED SATISFACTORY BY BROKERS.

Many large real estate sales were reported last week. Many small transactions also took place and the general situation of the market is considered by brokers satisfactory. Norman L. Munro has sold the four-story house No. 29 West Fifty-seventh-st. to Isaac Brokaw for $120,000. In 1887 he bought it for $50,000. E. T. Walton has bought the lease, good will and furnishings of the Grand Hotel, Broadway and Thirty-first-st., for $130,000. "The Record and Guide" reports that Lloyd S. Bryce has bought of Benjamin Liechtenstein the plot, 75.2x102.2, at the southeast corner of Fifth-ave. and Eighty-seventh-st. for $2,500,000. Mrs. J. A. Caldwell has sold to the Twelfth Ward Bank the old homestead at Lexington-ave. and One-hundred-and-twenty-fifth-st., 69x200, for $145,000. R. G. Dun has sold the plot of four lots at the southeast corner of Fifth-ave. and Eighty-first-st. It is said that the price was over $250,000. E. V. Loew has sold the plot, 50x105, at the northeast corner of Third-ave. and Fifty-eighth-st., with an extension in the rear, 50x100, for $125,000.

The conveyances of the week numbered 270 and involved $5,960,780. They numbered 358 and involved $7,522,216 in the corresponding week of 1892. The number of mortgages made was 270, involving $3,863,028, as against 324, involving $3,578,254, in the corresponding week last year. Thirty-six buildings at an estimated cost of $1,992,375 were projected. In the corresponding week of last year forty buildings at an estimated cost of $1,412,800 were projected.

THE CITY ROADWAYS STILL FILTHY.

AFTER MAY 1 THE OFFICES OF THE STREET-CLEANING DEPARTMENT WILL PROBABLY BE IN THE HILLEN BUILDING.

The offices of the Street Cleaning Department are to be removed from the Stewart Building at the expiration of the present lease on May 1, and arrangements are being made by the Controller for quarters for Commissioner Freeman and his assistants in the Hillen Building, which is just opposite the Stewart Building, at Broadway and Chambers-st. Judge Hillen's reason for refusing to renew the lease of the rooms occupied by the Street Cleaning Department was that his other tenants objected to the odorous class of persons attracted there. He declined to allow Mr. Brennan and his men to remain at any rental. Mr. Hillen is anxious to get the Law and Tax Departments into that building, but his negotiations to that end have not been concluded. Commissioner Freeman reported his Department in fine order yesterday, and all his dumping scows making regular trips to sea with their contents. The removal of vast quantities of refuse from the streets was reported, but it seemed to have little effect upon the general filthiness which prevails in all quarters of the city. The cold snap retarded the condition somewhat by freezing up the mud, but when the thaw comes the condition of the streets will be as horrid as ever.

ONE OF "BILLY" MCGLORY'S SCHEMES.

The examination of "Billy" McGloory and some of his associates in supplementary proceedings brought by S. J. Lananan & Co., of Philadelphia, to recover about $500 for liquors sold while McGloory was running his "dive" at Fourteenth-st. and Irving Place, has been going on during the last week before Judge McCarthy in the City Court. McGloory says that he did not get the place, but that he had borrowed from left "colleze" (black-bellied) Island) he has had no steady employment since the place was sold. Some of the inside facts about his former business came out yesterday when Edward W. Corey, in whose name the place was run, was placed on the witness stand. Corey said that McGloory gave him $3,500 in January, 1891, to purchase a half interest in the place, which was then owned by one Kraus. The place was run in the name of E. W. Corey & Co. The receipts averaged $250 a day and $1,000 on Saturdays. McGloory took all but about $1,000 a week, which went for expenses. Kraus got little or nothing. Corey did not get his salary regularly, and McGloory suggested that he take his income by placing a glass box in the "hotel" with the sign "For Friendless Girls." Corey was to get the contributions. He refused to be a party to this scheme, and partly because of the expense, and partly because Corey was not a resident of the place by the women who frequented it. He did not know how much money McGloory had now, but saw him occasionally drinking at the Hoffman House bar. McGloory's wife will probably be examined to-morrow.

SEEKING EVIDENCE IN THE HARRIS CASE.

The subject of a new trial for Carlisle W. Harris, convicted of poisoning his wife, will come up before Recorder Smyth in General sessions to-morrow. There will be no formal argument on the motion, however. The District Attorney is not yet ready to present his affidavits. Both he and William F. Howe are still busy securing evidence in support of their position. The District Attorney has detectives at work in Astory Park getting the affidavits of friends of Helen Potts that she did not use opium. The Recorder will probably not pass on the motion for a week or two.

INSPECTOR WILLIAMS STILL HAS HOPE.

HE SECURES A STAY PREVENTING MR. CONLIN FROM ACTING AS CHIEF INSPECTOR OF POLICE.

The writ of mandamus, issued by Judge Lawrence on Friday, directing the Police Commissioners to resign Inspector Conlin as the Chief Inspector and place him in command of the Detective Bureau with increased pay, was served upon President Martin yesterday morning at Police Headquarters. Mr. Martin had a talk with Inspector Conlin and said that in the absence of the other Commissioners, who had not received the official notice, he could take no action in obedience to the writ. There would be a meeting of the Commissioners on Tuesday, he said, and they could take action on the order then if it was obtained in the mean time. Superintendent Byrnes was informed of the service of the writ, but he said that as the order had been directed to the Commissioners, he would await their action before placing Inspector Conlin in command of the Detective Bureau. "I have taken no part in the contest," Mr. Byrnes said, "and it is my duty merely to carry out the orders of the Commissioners. It is well that there has been a decision in the matter, and there ought to have been a decision long ago. Either Conlin or Williams was the Chief Inspector the moment that Inspector Steers was retired. I was not consulted regarding the bill to repeal the law under which I became the first Chief Inspector of the force. Inspector Williams would not talk about his plans, but it was said that he had not given up the fight for the office of Chief Inspector, and that his counsel had asked for a stay to prevent Inspector Conlin from taking charge of the Detective Bureau pending an appeal to a higher court. Inspector Conlin went to consult with his counsel before noon, and later President Martin was informed that a stay had been obtained by the concerted action of the Corporation Counsel and the counsel of the two inspectors. Inspector Conlin will be entitled to $600 more pay than he has received since the retirement of Inspector Steers if the decision of Judge Lawrence is sustained. Inspector Williams has drawn no pay since the contest for the Chief Inspectorship began. The stay granted yesterday, it was said, would keep Inspector McLaughlin in charge of the detectives. Inspector Conlin made no attempt to take charge of the Detective Bureau.
